

GETTING TOO FRESH

EMPEROR WILLIAM NOW HINTS AT POLISH GALL.

He Remarks That the People Who Live in Germany Should be Germans and Stand by Their King. Poles are Getting Very Restive and are Thinking of Attempting a Revolution of Their Nation—Foreign Notes.

Berlin, Sept. 22.—Once more has a public announcement of Emperor William created a deep impression throughout the empire. This time it is his emphatic reiteration of his Königshaus utterance addressed to the Prussian nobles and others. His majesty evidently desires that the people should not be mistaken as to the attitude he has assumed toward those who have opposed him. Consequently, as already noted, in replying to the speech of welcome of the Baroness of Hohenhausen, the emperor said that Thörn had always retained the German spirit. He had, however, unfortunately found that the conduct of their Polish fellow citizens had not been such as he desired and he, the emperor, wished all to remember his words to fight against the parties of revolution. Only those who fully and completely considered themselves German subjects could hope for his royal favor. Emperor William concluded by saying:

NOSE BUT GERMAN NEED APPLY. "Let us stand firm against all hostile schemes. My subjects must stand firm at my back. Trusting that Thörn will ever be the stronghold where this is borne in mind, I bid you God speed."

His majesty's remarks are also interpreted, as an expression of a renewed confidence in Chancellor von Caprivi in his fight against the agrarians. The emperor and the chancellor are both alarmed at the many recent signs of Polish agitation and fraternization such as the reception afforded to the Posen congress at the exposition held at Langen, Austria, Galicia. Among them were many of the leading politicians of the Polish faction in both the reichstag and the diet. These congresses were warmly received by their Galician brethren.

It is noticed as a curious fact that the American Poles, especially those from Chicago and the west, are playing a conspicuous part at the Lemberg exposition. The St. Petersburg Novoye Vremya has just published mentions that 2,000,000 Poles in America and Russia have offered to furnish 40,000 men arm-d, drilled and equipped, together with ample funds, at any time a new Polish insurrection should break out.

TESTIMONY AGAINST IMMIGRATION. The chief legislative proposals of the coming session of the Reichstag will be bills for the taxation of tobacco, an amendment to the insurance laws and bills dealing with unfair competition, the regulation of emigration and the revision of the penal procedure of the courts of the Reich.

The radicals assert that the chancellor, von Caprivi, and his cabinet are endeavoring to restrict the liberty of the press and public meetings and to combat socialism. The decision in this matter, however, is left to the Reichstag.

Two Florentine noblemen named Diogeni, claiming to be direct descendants of the Italian branch of the Guelph family, have applied to the German government for an embassy, requesting that the Guelph fund, now amounting to $15,000, be handed over to them as the only legitimate heirs.

LIFE INSURANCE TROUBLES. Prince Hermann von Truchseßberg has been appointed governor of Silesia. The master of the American life insurance companies, doing business in Prussia, being so seriously affected by the new law requiring annually definite information on oath as to the dividends and surplus accumulated for the benefit of the insured under the Touline plan seems now about definitely settled. American companies are able to conform with the rigorous requirements of the new law, but the Prussian contingent plays a vital part. The Equitable of New York has definitely retired from the field so far as obtaining new business is concerned.

GERMAN WARSHIPS GOING EAST. Prince Albrecht of Prussia, prince regent of Brunswick, has declared his intention of investing a large sum of money in the development of the German colonial possessions in eastern Africa. He will begin by buying up large tracts of land in the purpose of starting coffee and indigo plantations. Prince Albrecht is the wealthiest of the Prussian princes.

It will be a long time before the German fleet intended to protect German commercial interests at the seat of the Chinese-Japanese war will reach there. The two cruisers, Condor and Condor, and the battleship, are not expected to be ready to start before the middle of October, while the battleship, which is to be sent to start before November, as that vessel is undergoing extensive interior alterations. A sensation has been caused here by the news that the German fleet, which is to start before November, as that vessel is undergoing extensive interior alterations. UNCLE SAM BUYING SWORDS. Sweden expects to get the job of making them. Stockholm, Sept. 22.—Secretary of the Swedish-Norwegian consulate in Chicago writes to the Swedish Exporting society that the Swedish consular authorities and other works are attracting considerable attention in the United States. To this report may be added that Charles T. Yerkes, the street railway magnate of Chicago, has just ordered a cable 14,000 feet long, to be manufactured in Sweden. Another thing which is probably not generally known in America is that the United States government is contemplating ordering Swedish sword blades to be used in the United States army.

The government of the United States has at least made inquiries in regard to their cost. The private societies and fencing clubs in America have already sent in several orders. The shipbuilding industry has begun to flourish in King Oscar's domain, although Swedish built vessels are scarcely different from those built in other countries. These do not imply that no new inventions in ship building and other maritime industries originate in Sweden. On the contrary, the steamers for carrying petroleum in bulk were first built in Sweden at the Metla company's yards, for Russian owners, long before the first patent of this kind of vessel was applied for in England or America, and a number of essential improvements in marine machinery and appliances have originated in Sweden. The simple and swift open passenger steam

STOLE BILL'S BOOTS

OUTLAW DALTON'S FOOTGEAR IS MADE AWAY WITH.

He Died With Them On, and a Friend Who Secured Them as Souvenirs Refuses a Big Offer From a Museum Only to Lose Them by the Burglar Route—News From Ponca—Oklahoma Territory News of Interest.

BELLEVILLE, I. T., Sept. 22.—Jerry Smith who rode in from Hewitt in the Chickasaw nation today, brings news of a peculiar robbery which took place in that village Thursday night. The robbery resulted in the loss of the boots which Bill Dalton wore at the time of his death.

These boots belonged to Tom Vaughan of Hewitt. Vaughan and Bill Dalton were old friends. Vaughan never took the road as Dalton did, but the men frequently met and became, eventually, good friends. At the time of Dalton's death near Ardmore, Vaughan was at once to the scene and asked a special favor of the gift of the boots which Bill Dalton wore when he was shot. He gave as his reason for wanting to possess them the western belief that a man who "dies with his boots on" is a hero. Judge Luttwiler, the United States commissioner of the northern district of Texas, secured the other wearing apparel of Dalton, and now has them in his possession.

Vaughan took his much-prized boots home with him and they have been on exhibit to every one who wanted to see them. About three weeks ago a drowsy stranger appeared on the scene. He hired a buggy and drove out to Hewitt and asked to see the boots. He said his name was La Ferre and that he represented a large dime museum in Chicago and wanted to secure possession of the boots to exhibit among the other curiosities. He offered to pay Vaughan a good round sum for them.

But Vaughan would not sell. Several successive and increasing bids from the man who styled himself La Ferre and who moved him finally after a good deal of haggling Vaughan told the museum man that the boots were priceless and could not be purchased by all the money in the world.

This apparently settled the matter. The drowsy museum man left the country and the boots were tucked away in a closet in Vaughan's home. They were there last Wednesday. Thursday evening Vaughan went to the closet to look for them. He found them missing and discovered that they were gone.

It is generally believed that the museum man got away with them. Vaughan is very angry and is about following his sovereign up and putting the thief through. Judge Luttwiler, who owns Bill Dalton's broad-brimmed hat, recently wore it at a Republican convention held in Dallas, Tex. He gave it out that it was the hat worn by Bill Dalton at the time of his death, and he was offered $50 for it. He refused to sell.

THEY INDORSED RENFROW. Kingfisher Demos at, After a Rumpus, Stand by Him. Special Dispatch to the Daily Eagle. KINGFISHER, O. T., Sept. 22.—The Democratic county convention placed a ticket in the field: Sheriff, Joe Willis, Union; Treasurer, E. Wolf, Excelsior; Register of deeds—W. P. Ray, Hennessy; Clerk—Ed Reckler, Logan; County attorney—Lee Gray, Hennessy; Probate judge—G. K. Wiest, Downes.

Hon. Virgil M. Hobbs was made chairman, and W. P. C. Smith, secretary. A series of resolutions prevailed endorsing the national and territorial administrations. "Dick" Cummins made a fight against endorsing the territorial administration, but was downed with a numerical crash. Joe Wisly was urged by resolution, and some of the present county officials were authorized. The cost of the convention was in favor of no union with Populism, but in favor of a straight ticket and a fight to the death.

CUT INTO THE WIRE. Ponca City Has Been Given All Railroad Facilities. Special Dispatch to the Daily Eagle. PONCA CITY, Sept. 21.—Ponca City is at last a station on the Santa Fe railroad and will have a fine depot. The station is located on the north about 3 o'clock this morning with a force of men and the necessary materials and proceeded to put in a short spur off from the main line track near the foot of Grand avenue. About 2 o'clock P. M. 38 iron rails were laid down to the depot, and the same was in position to be used for a month or two for depot purposes. It is the same car used last fall for the same purpose, previous to the building of the depot at Newark.

CLOSING DAY AT GRAVESSEND HOLDS BIG ATTRACTION.

In the Race Between Henry of Navarre and Clifford the Latter Wins by a Head and Sir Walter Takes Second Race From Song and Dance by a Neck—The Pittsburgh Ball Team Takes Time by the Forelock.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The attendance on this closing day of the season at Gravesend was the largest, and the attraction was probably the contest of a mile and a furlong in the second special between Henry of Navarre and Clifford, at weights for age.

Under the circumstances, it was an interesting race, for Domino had beaten Clifford at a mile and had run a dead heat at an eighth further with Henry of Navarre, so that the three-year-old was the favorite, as sprightly was thought to be Clifford's strong hold. Navarre led to the turn for home, where Clifford went up and passing him won by a head. Sir Walter, in a good finish, won the second race by a neck from Song and Dance.

First race—Six furlongs: Jack of Spades won; Hugh Penny, second; Maid Marian, third. Time, 1:38. Second—A mile and sixteenth: Sir Walter won; Song and Dance, second; Sir Knight, third. Time, 1:48. Third—The Holy Handicap, six furlongs: Domino won; Handspan, second; Sadie, third. Time, 1:14.

Fourth—Special mile and an eighth: Clifford won; Henry of Navarre, second. Time, 1:44. Fifth—Special mile: Rubicon won; Patriotic second, Gallic third. Time, 1:41. Sixth—Five furlongs: Doe Filley won; Milton T. second, Lobengula third. Time, 1:32.

Seventh—Mile: Ingomar won, Discount second. Time, 1:45. Eighth—Mile: Karl won by a length, Amalgam second, Clarius third. Time, 1:43. Three Favorites Win at Latonia. CINCINNATI, Sept. 22.—Two thousand five hundred racegoers were at Latonia today. The track was good but fast. Fifty horses out of seventy-four started. Three favorites won.

First race—Seven furlongs: Cravens won; Stratus second; Alto June third. Time, 1:31. Second—Six and one-half furlongs: Potentate won; Arapahoe second; Dorella third. Time, 1:29. Third—Mile and an eighth: Solika won; Roy El Solita Anita second; Claret third. Time, 1:54.

Fourth—Mile: Loman won; Buckwa second; Atary third. Time, 1:43. Fifth—Six furlongs: Satsuma won; Islin second; Valoria third. Time, 1:16. Sixth—Six furlongs: Green won; Greenwich second; Tariff Yorum third. Time, 1:29. Races Postponed at Galesburg. GALESBURG, Ill., Sept. 22.—A heavy rain set in last night, compelling a postponement of all races till Monday. The weather being improved, the races were held, but were declared off, and the purses divided. Monday there will be the Futurity stake race.

Hammer Throwing Record Broken. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 22.—The fifth annual track and field games of the central division of the Amateur Athletic union were held at the grounds of the Pastime Athletic club of this city this afternoon. Each contestant started from the scratch. The track was wet and slow. Little Green of Iowa won the 110 and 220 yard race in such style that he volunteered to go 100 yards against time making 1:15, one hour recording the fastest time. The one mile bicycle race was a fair, the men leading three-quarters of the way and only racing the last quarter. Keep of Michigan, however, won the race. The middle division 35 second and in the sixteen pound hammer throwing Renneham broke the record for the same division by three feet.

In the 100 yards run J. V. Crum, Iowa University A. A. won; E. R. Ertmer, P. A. C. St. Louis, second; Allen Jr., Ellend, third. Time, 1:18. Half mile bicycle race, class A—D. A. Maxwell, P. A. C. won; E. Anderson, P. A. C. second; Will Coburn, P. A. C. third. Time, 1:18. In the 400 yard run C. L. Vandenberg, P. A. C. won in 55.45 S. S. Vanderworth, P. A. C. second.

MET BY A MOB

SHERIFF IN ARKANSAS RELIEVED OF HIS PRISONERS.

Three Negroes Who Murder and Rob a Citizen of McGhee Confess Their Crime—Populace Wait Patiently Until the Corner Gets Through, Then do Get Limb and Then Riddled With Bullets.

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 22.—The breath of life had scarcely left the bodies of their victims when a mob of 300 enraged citizens of McGhee, Ark., secured Luke Washington, Richard Washington and Harry Crosby, the three negroes who so heathenly murdered H. C. Patton at McGhee yesterday morning, and strung them up to a telegraph pole and their sides, sods perforated with bullets are now dangling in the air near the scene of the crime.

The three negroes yesterday morning burst into the store of Mr. H. C. Patton, a prominent merchant at McGhee, and after beating him into insensibility with clubs, dragged him into the rear of his store, where the knife was brought into use, making their terrible work doubly sure and their unconscious victim's throat was cut from ear to ear. The negroes then rifled the store of a small amount of money and what goods they could carry away and fled to Pine Bluff, where they were captured last night. They were taken to McGhee by a posse of citizens, the coroner's inquest broke down and confessed their crime.

SENEGALS TAKE A LEADING PART. The negro population of Senegal county outnumber the whites five to one. All day excitement ran high in McGhee and it was almost certain that as soon as darkness should settle over the little town, no mob would be lost in avenging Patton's murder.

The negroes of McGhee took a leading part in the proceedings and passed among the whites a feeling of hostility. The coroner's inquest, promising that as soon as all doubt of the prisoner's guilt should have been removed, the colored people would be allowed to take part in the public display for revenge.

After the conclusion of the coroner's inquest the sheriff made preparations to hasten his prisoners to jail and as subsequent events proved, the mob prepared to hasten them to their graves. About 7:30 p. m., as the sheriff was starting to the jail at Arkansas City with his prisoners, he was met by a mob of 300, who overpowered the officers and quickly strung the prisoners up. Hundreds of guns were then leveled at the writhing forms and the murder of H. C. Patton was avenged.

STOPPING A RUN ON A BANK. Several Sacks of Wagon Washers Preved Value Property. A man whose hair is now snow white, and whose activity long ago gave place to the slowness and feebleness of old age, tells a story of how, over 30 years—in fact, nearly 40 years ago, in the days of the gold fever on the Pacific coast, he stopped a run on a bank by quick wittedness, nerve and boldness.

"The bank was perfectly solvent," he says, "but one of those wild rumors that do float over mining towns insisted that I had no gold, and that the deposits could never be made good. The run started one afternoon just before the hour for closing, and it was pretty exciting. I tell you. Those miners were all armed, and they swarmed around the house, swearing, shouting and howling desperately. We continued to pay out money up to the usual hour for closing, and then we stopped. It was just about time to stop, too, for our gold was nearly exhausted.

"We drove the people out of the bank and posted a big notice on the door. 'This bank will open at the usual hour in the morning.' They cheered at that, but they did not disperse, leaving armed guard. The bank I went home to think over some possible way of avoiding a collapse. This was the plan I had to follow: It was a slim chance, but my only one. Over in S—, another town, I had another bank, no better off for ready gold than this one. I was better off in a single line, and among the property which I had acquired in a dicker once was a load of wagon washers. They were stored over in S—. I set out on horseback at a gallop for S—, had four horses hitched to a stagecoach, filled several sacks with the washers, and loaded them on the coach. The bluff did not stop them. Inside and on top of the coach I placed half a dozen men, armed to the teeth, to guard the immense treasure.

We went out of S— at a sharp trot before daylight and arrived at my loaded bank shortly before the time for opening. When the crowd saw the well filled sacks, they cheered like mad, but I did not say a word. I had half the guards carry a passageway, and then, while the armed mob carefully watched the crowd, the sacks of washers were transferred to the vault—it was a brisk and short affair, on the same floor with the desks—while the crowd cheered and cheered.
